

Hey guys!

I'm back for good.

Yes, meaning I will be checking these forums daily, I'll be on IRC, and everything.

I'd give more info on my absence and general things about my life, but I'll save it for another time when I feel like it.

I have talked with Jazz as well as a few other of you loyal oldfags ;) and we all agree that Cruels.net needs to refocus and reform. Therefore, we will be changing many things, but we won't abandon the forum we already have, we'll simply prune that which is dead and add that which people want.

We're still brainstorming many things, and we'll be obviously needing your input as well.

We're overall a programming community, but we aren't a mere programming forum since we have a more specific focus. Before, our focus was on Runescape and cheating, which is why most of our coding went towards that. But we are officially killing Runescape now. :D Obviously, topics may still involve Runescape, but it is not our focus.

So what IS our focus?

Let's hear ideas.